Dear Hillary:

Enclosed is some material about FCD: our last annual report; recent grants, a listing of grants approved in the fiscal year just ended; and the organization's bylaws. Your response to our invitation to join the council was so heartening; your membership will provide new strength not only to the council, but to the board and staff.

Mary Bundy, who chairs the nominating committee is also delighted to know that you have agreed, and she will be writing you later this spring. I look forward to working with you.

With best regards,

Barbara B. Blum

HILLARY RODHAM CLINTON

Hillary Rodham Clinton is an attorney in Little Rock, Arkansas, and a national leader in education and community affairs.

She chairs the Board of Directors of the Children's Defense Fund, the American Bar Association Commission on Women in the Profession, and serves on the Grant Foundation Commission on Youth and America's Future. She is on the Board of Directors of Wal-Mart Stores, Inc., and of Southern Development Bancorporation.

She served as Chairperson of the Arkansas Education Standards Committee which recommended substantial changes in accreditation standards for the State's public schools and which served as a model for other states. She was appointed by the Governor to serve on the Commission on Arkansas' Future.

She was named in the 1984 Esquire Magazine Register of "The Best of the New Generation," and has received numerous other honors and honorary degrees for her work on behalf of public education, legal services and children.

She served on the faculties of the Schools of Law at the University of Arkansas in Fayetteville and in Little Rock, and she is a partner in the Rose Law Firm.

Hillary Rodham Clinton graduated with high honors from Wellesley College in Wellesley, Massachusetts, and received her law degree from the Yale Law School in New Haven, Connecticut.

As an author and lecturer, she has written articles and spoken throughout the country on education, other issues affecting children and families, and the changing roles of women.

She is married to Governor Bill Clinton of Arkansas and they have a daughter, Chelsea.

Dear Hillary:

You were missed last week at our annual council meeting, but I do appreciate your having taken the time to review the materials and give us your thoughts on the NGA project. As you indicated, new efforts to reach the thousands of line workers who will in the end be critical to whether the FSA improves services to families pose an enormous challenge to all of us, one that will take patience, time, and persistence to meet. I was encouraged, however, by Lynne Fender's response to your observations. Lynne acknowledges that NGA by itself has been unable to penetrate much beyond the top levels of human service officials, but that its new consortium with APWA, NACo, and CCSSO is designed to facilitate communication with a much broader group of staff members.

The regional meetings provide a real opportunity to learn more about which staff are being reached. I look forward to talking with you as the technical assistance process unfolds.

With best regards,

Barbara B. Blum

Ms. Mary L. Bundy
Foundation for Child Development

Dear Ms. Bundy:

I greatly appreciated your letter of July 30, 1991, asking if I would be willing to have my name submitted for election to the class of 1994 of the Foundation's Council. As much as I would love to say yes, I cannot at this time take on any additional obligations. There are a number of pressing matters on my agenda (and also my husband's) that I have to give my priority to before I can accept any others. I hope, though, you will leave the door open for me and permit me to be reconsidered next year.

I admire the work that the Foundation does and, although I have not been able to attend all of the Council meetings that I would like to have, I learned a great deal and still remember vividly my conversations with the other participants.

Please give my regards to the other members of the Council and the Staff of the Foundation for the good work they continue to do.

Sincerely yours,

Hillary Rodham Clinton

Dear Hillary,

Although your current activities preclude continued membership as a member of FCD's council, our board and staff hope that, at a time not too distant, we can involve you again, perhaps more actively, in our work. Your leadership on the issues of concern to the foundation is simply exceptional and we are grateful for all you do.

With every good wish,
